

NOMINATING SPEECHES FOR THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

date from Cuba to the Philippines, through the late war, giving credit to Gen. Wood for the officers' training camps and the training of the 9th Division in Kansas. Gov. Allen said that when the 9th left Kansas under command of Gen. Wood Kansas felt safe—felt that when the 9th and Gen. Wood got to France the war wouldn't last very long.

BIG DEMONSTRATION FOR WOOD STARTED BY KANSAS.

There were few cheers during the delivery of Gov. Allen's speech, and there was little commotion until two minutes after it was ended. But then the Wood cohorts broke loose and started a demonstration that recalled those of former years.

The Wood demonstration was pretty well staged. The boosters did nothing in the early stages, and the crowd was willing to wait after five minutes. Then the clique got busy. The standard of Kansas was panted up and started around by the delegates.

One of the methods adopted by the Wood enthusiasts promoters—I was going to write promoters—was to station lusty young men armed with megaphones in the front row at various points in the galleries. By utilization of signals these men kept things going until at the end of forty minutes Chairman Lodge hammered the table and choked off the artificial noise.

When the Wood hurrah had been running about fifteen minutes Senator James, the well known World reporter, who sits in our section, remarked "Our bull fight is much noisier than this bull fight." The esteemed Senator is a great humorist but he probably didn't know how truthfully funny he was when he described the current happening in the Chicago Coliseum as a "bull fight." For such it really is—a battle between experts, at the American pastime of throwing the bull.

SECONDING SPEECHES MORE EFFECTIVE THAN ALLEN'S

The speeches seconding Gen. Wood were even more effective than the nominating speech of Gov. Allen. Frank Knox of New Hampshire, a veteran of the Spanish-American War and the war in France, was able to speak not only for Gen. Wood's native State but for the men who fought in those two wars.

Mrs. Douglas Robinson made one good point after another in her seconding speech which she held exactly to five minutes, the limit allowed. In opening she said, referring to her voting right: "As a woman of New York I am glad to say I can call you my fellow countrymen."

"Leonard Wood," she said, "was largely instrumental in sending our soldiers abroad fit to fight instead of Cannon fodder."

"I am not for Leonard Wood for President," she said, "because he is my brother's type. We want realistic ideas, and we want to realize them. President Wilson waited for the psychological moment to begin to fight. Do we want a man who will wait for the psychological moment to decide between right and wrong? Never again, and we want a man who will make the psychological moment."

Mrs. Robinson's peroration was: "There are three types of men. First, the man who uses only words; second, the man who uses the brow and blood of others and says 'Go!' and the third, the man who says 'Come!' Leonard Wood is the type of man who says 'Come!' and I want him for President."

RODENBERG PUTS NAME OF LOWDEN BEFORE CONVENTION.

Congressman William Rodenberg of Illinois, who also wore a sack suit, placed Gov. Lowden of Illinois in nomination in a well constructed and well delivered speech, in which he referred particularly to the Governor's achievement in reforming the Government of the State and reducing taxes during his term of office.

During the Lowden demonstration, which followed the nominating speech, some of the delegates' chairs were overturned and there was much smashing of straw hats as the enthusiasts pushed their way through the crowded convention floor. At forty-two minutes the demonstration finally was stilled and Charles E. Pickett, of Waterloo, Iowa, seconded Gov. Lowden's nomination.

The Illinois candidate, Mr. Pickett said, represented no particular section and made his campaign on no narrow issue, but on a platform as broad as the Nation itself. Like Representative Rodenberg, the speaker had a full, ringing voice and he kept the big crowd well in hand. There was a rousing cheer from the convention floor when Mr. Pickett said the Nation needed a practical man and that Gov. Lowden would fill that bill.

LEADING CANDIDATES HOPEFUL AS CONVENTION MEETS.

As the convention met the three leading candidates were hopeful. The Johnson managers were without hope for Johnson, but they expected to do a lot with their delegates, and the dark horses are standing back in the hope that the leaders will follow the precedent set by the Kilbenny case.

A round of the headquarters and visits to the managers of the favorite candidates leads to the conclusion that

NO $500,000 ANGEL BACKS JOHNSON, SAYS SPOKESMAN

Charles S. Wheeler Tells Convention He Got No $25,000 Tip From Standard Oil.

WOULD FIGHT BOSSES.

A "Yellow Dog Would Not Do"—"Dark Horse Cannot Win," He Says.

CHICAGO, June 11.—Hailed as the man to "secure the last of the bosses from the temple of the Republican Party," Senator Hiram Johnson was formally nominated to-day for the Republican Presidential candidacy by Charles S. Wheeler of California.

"California would say to such men that this progressive word of ours has been moving right along," he said. "That the course of empire has steadily pursued its westward way; that the hand and brain of men have not only mapped rivers and levelled hills, but they have now leaped athwart the ether and heaved highways through the very heavens themselves until the East and the West are one."

"A 'yellow dog' is impossible and a 'dark horse' cannot win. If you expect votes of citizens do not offer to them a cold, capricious, un-sympathetic, business administration. They are in no mood to take it on."

"What they want and what they demand of this convention is a candidate whose red-blooded, forthright Americanism transfigures its warmth to the cockles of their hearts and whose words of ringing righteousness bring new hope to their troubled souls."

"Do you want another four years of economic chaos? Do you want another four years of the Wilson family in the White House? If you insist that the father of the dynasty shall abdicate, do you want the people then to take up the Crown Prince?"

"The supreme test of human greatness—the test of a man's character—comes only when the man is brought face to face with ambition's lure. In the past few weeks the American people have seen this son of California brought face to face with the highest ambition that can possess the hope of mortal man. They have seen him put to the acid test. And they have seen him return from his great campaign with head erect, with no blot on his escutcheon, and with eyes that can still look straight into the face of his fellow countrymen."

"If you shall select this son of California, remember that in the conduct of his campaign he has placed no burden upon the back of the Republican Party. No $500,000 'angels' have been hovering over him, no $25,000 tip from the friendly hand of a Standard Oil king has found its way into his political treasury, and not a penny from his private purse has been stashed in the gaudy pocket of a 'show-me' politician."

"My fellow Americans, the hour has struck, the time has come to scourge the last of the bosses from this great temple of the Republican Party."

"Men of the South, if it be true that there are among your number hand-picked delegates who have forgotten the obligation they or all men owe to the flag of freedom; men of the North, if it be true that there are in your ranks political slaves who are being lashed into line by the blacksnake of some party Legree, tell them that they hold within themselves the power to strike the shackles from their own limbs!"

If victory is to follow confidence, Lowden has an edge over the field. The Lowden people are the only sterner of candidates who are willing to put their cards on the table and tell where they expect to get their votes after the first and second ballots.

They are even willing to give the names of the delegates they expect to flock to their standard as the ban of instructions is removed and votes are switched with the progress of the proceedings. They expect to line up 535 votes on the fifth ballot, and that is forty-two more than the number required to nominate. They expect to be within five votes of a majority at the end of the fourth ballot, and last night they were working feverishly to round up delegates who would be willing to change their votes to Lowden before the result is announced, and thus make a fifth ballot unnecessary.

The Wood people are not so frank as the Lowden managers, but they are willing to take the Lowden figures and dispute them. For instance they say that one of the claims of Lowden, of fifteen votes from North Carolina on the fourth ballot or earlier, is preposterous, that Wood has the twenty-two North Carolina votes sewed up. They dispute other Lowden claims, and the dispute will have this value in forming a basis for forecasting the result before it is apparent in the

WOOD FITS HOUR, IS BUSINESS MAN, SAYS NOMINATOR

No Whimperer Over Rebuffs During War, Declares Gov. Allen of Kansas.

CHICAGO, June 11.—"With full appreciation of the challenge of the hour, I present the name of the man who fits the hour—Major Gen. Leonard Wood."

Gov. Allen reviewed Wood's military and administrative career. He cited his work in Cuba, where he established a stable government, he said, and put the country on its feet; described how Wood was removed from command of 9th Division just before it sailed for France; and said "This man is no whimperer," that he bade farewell to the men he had trained and went back to Camp Funston to train another division.

"You ask for a business man," said Gov. Allen. "We present to you a record of four years as Governor of Cuba, a record which gained him international fame. It was something more than the work of a business man. It was the work of a statesman who had not narrowed his vision to the purely business end. It was the accomplishment of a great national organizer."

"When the great war broke upon the consciousness of the American people with a terrific shock it found that Leonard Wood had been preparing. We heard from him no platitudes about a million men springing to arms over night. On his own initiative he established the Plattburg training camps, created the first line of the national defense and gave to the thousands of magnificent young American men who volunteered a new definition of loyalty, a new opportunity for service, a new vision of their national obligation."

"While other men were preaching the need of keeping out of war, he sounded the reveille that awoke a slumbering nation and made victory possible. He insisted, he demanded, 'We must prepare!'"

"Some men pretend to object to the fact that he wears the uniform of his country. Since when has this uniform become an emblem of disqualification? A plain, blunt man with blunt beliefs, in fact, he is today the best known American. In the frank expression of his beliefs there is no hidden motive. No candidate for high office has ever come to the people of this nation with soul and mind so frankly revealed as Leonard Wood."

"No man can know him without recognizing the liberality of his mind, his openness to conviction. As Kent once said of him, 'He is hospitable to advice.'"

"As President he will not seek to create for himself a neutral background out of mediocre men. This Nation will have that to which the people are entitled in its councils—the united brain power of real leaders."

If the open claims of the Lowden people are realized in the second and third ballots, and the Wood claims are discounted, the indications will point to Lowden's nomination long before that even comes to pass.

SAY PLAN IS TO PREVENT WOOD'S NOMINATION.

A strange conviction appears to prevail everywhere outside the Wood headquarters that the powers in charge of the convention will not allow Gen. Wood to be nominated. The widespread extent of this conviction is quite astonishing.

As for the Hoover people, they admit that their candidate will trail up to the fourth ballot. They say that if Lowden cannot be put over on the fourth ballot Hoover's nomination is inevitable, because he has enough votes pledged for the fifth ballot to put Lowden out of the running.

It would appear that Johnson already has about all the strength he can hope to control in the convention, and that will not be sufficient to bring him within reaching distance of the nomination, nor will Johnson be able to do much dictating. Since he has accepted the platform the Old Guard consider him out of the running. They expect him to climb on the band wagon because he needs the Republican Party more than the Republican Party needs him.

The Knox-Johnson ticket figured out several days ago by The Evening World's nine delegates hasn't been put into the discard by any means. The nine delegates held a meeting last night over a couple of bottles of Scotch and plenty of ice and carbonic water and agreed to stick. They hold that if Wood is eliminated on the third ballot and Lowden cannot win on the fourth ballot and Hoover

LOWDEN PUT UP FOR HIS RUGGED AMERICANISM

Congressman Rodenberg Tells Convention Illinois Governor Is Man of Courage.

HAS A FINE LEGAL MIND.

Stands for Law and Order and Constitutional Government.

CHICAGO, June 11.—Gov. Frank Orren Lowden was placed before the Republican National Convention by Congressman William A. Rodenberg of Illinois.

"We present him to you," said Mr. Rodenberg, "because we believe in his rugged Americanism, the Americanism that comes from the close contact with the plain people. Born of humble parentage in the State of Minnesota, his early youth and young manhood were spent on a farm in the State of Iowa. It was there, close to nature and nature's God, the great school of human experience, the school that has given to the Nation its best and truest men, that he formed those sterling traits of character that have ruled his life and have left their impress upon his every act."

"We present him to you because we know him to be a man of courage and conviction, endowed with the genius of common sense, faithful and fearless, whose every heartbeat is in full sympathy with the noblest aspirations of his fellow men."

"We present him to you because he stands for law and order and constitutional government. Of fine legal mind and training, with both legislative and executive experience, he believes in re-establishing the powers and prerogatives of every branch of the Federal Government as set forth by the Fathers in the Constitution itself, and he is unalterably opposed to executive usurpation of any legislative or judicial function."

"We present him to you because his record demonstrates that he has a clear and comprehensive conception of the proper relations of capital and labor to each other. His work as member of Congress and Governor of a great industrial State, with all its complex and diversified interest, stamps him as the living embodiment of the doctrine of the 'square deal.'"

"We present him to you because he is in full accord with the true spirit of America which still prefers the nationalism of Theodore Roosevelt to the internationalism of Woodrow Wilson. He believes that the sovereignty of the United States must be kept free and inviolate from European influence or dictation and that, while maintaining a friendly attitude toward all nations, we owe it to those who have gone before and to those who are to follow us to enter into partnership with none."

Spelwak Had $20,000 Diamonds Sewed in Shirt Tail.

Wolf Spelwak, arrested in Johnsonstown, Pa., and found to have had $20,000 worth of diamonds sewed into the tail of his shirt, was arraigned before Magistrate Nolan in the Center Street Court this morning charged with grand larceny and throwing paper into the eyes of Samuel Schotfield, jeweler, No. 71 Nassau Street, who was robbed of gems worth $100,000 Jan. 2.

Spelwak was committed to the toms to await examination Monday. Assistant District Attorney Moore said that the ball was set at $100,000.

Nathan D. Perlman, of No. 54 Chambers Street, counsel for the prisoner, declared he could produce bills showing the legal purchase of the diamonds found in Spelwak's possession.

NINE DELEGATES HOPE TO SEE KNOX WIN.

In the event of a deadlock the nine delegates who adopted common sense as their motto last Sunday, only to conclude on Wednesday that common sense isn't such a powerful factor in a Republican Convention, expect to see a movement headed by the Pennsylvania delegation which will suddenly throw Philander Knox into the limelight and sweep him to victory.

Never has there been such a quiet night in Chicago on the eve of the nominations. It was deadening. Brass bands moved from hotel to hotel and glee clubs moved here and there and warbled more or less melodiously, but there was something lacking. In fact, everything was lacking.

At 11 o'clock last night the lobby of the Congress Hotel was deserted save for a few oldtime newspaper correspondents who were exchanging reminiscences of convention sights and scenes which will never be witnessed again. The only people who enjoyed themselves were those who are so constituted that they hate to see other people enjoy themselves.

GOMPERS REJECTS G. O. P. LABOR PLANK

"Directly Contrary to What Labor Asked for," He Declares in Montreal.

MONTREAL, June 11.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor in a statement to-day condemned the labor plank adopted by the Republican National Convention.

"The plank is directly contrary to what labor asked for," said Gompers. "When asked what would be the result of the rejection of labor's demand by the Republican Party, Mr. Gompers' only comment was: 'You may draw your own inference.'"

Gompers referred especially to that part of the plank endorsing settlement of strikes in public utilities by boards similar to that of the Esch-Cummings Transportation act.

SAY LOWDEN GAINS NEW YORK VOTES

Leaders of Delegation Say They Have Made No Promises of Support.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 11.—The report persisted early this morning that the Lowden forces have made substantial inroads in the New York delegation and expect substantial support from the New Yorkers after the second or third ballot. While several of the leaders in the New York outfit denied that overtures from the Illinois Governor's managers had resulted in promises of support, the tip from seemingly reliable sources was that New York would help put Lowden over if it appeared he stood a chance of landing the nomination.

The story was that the deal for the New York delegates had been driven at an early hour yesterday morning. Following a conference which lasted several hours. All of the influential members of the New York delegation interviewed asserted they had participated in no conference.

COMMITTEE KILLS PLANK ON IRELAND

No Resolution Better Than Cohalan's, De Valera's Comment on Action.

CHICAGO, June 11.—After voting to report a plank favoring independence of the Irish people the subcommittee to which the plank was referred reported its vote as 6 to 6 to the full committee. On this report the full committee rejected the plank, leaving the platform free of any reference to Ireland or to Irish matters.

Chairman Watson of the Resolutions Committee and a member of the subcommittee was responsible for the change in the latter body. In the vote the night before he voted for the plank. In the morning when it came time to report to the full committee he withdrew his vote, making it a tie.

Previously the committee by a vote of 13 to 1, Doran alone voting in the affirmative, rejected the plank offered by the De Valera group calling for immediate recognition of Ireland's independence.

ACCUSE SUGAR CO. OF $1,200,000 GRAB

Williamsburg Delegation Protests Against Move to Close Five City Streets.

Alleging that the American Sugar Refining Company is attempting to consummate a steal of $1,200,000 worth of city water front property, residents of the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn appeared before the Board of Estimate to-day demanding disapproval of the company's petition for permission to close and take over five public streets adjoining its plant. It was claimed that the company maintains armed guards at the entrances to these streets to prevent people from approaching the water front.

The project has been favorably reported upon by the Committee on City Plan of the Board of Estimate. The report recommends, however, that the Mayor withhold separate approval until the company "shall pay to the city the value of the city's interest in the land, with the value of any public utilities in city ownership within the street lines."

No action was taken to-day on the company's petition.

RESOLUTE LEADING IN SIXTH TRY-OUT

Course Again Is Windward and Leeward With Six-Mile Breeze Increasing.

NEWPORT, June 11.—Numerous well known yachts were at the start to-day in the sixth race between the Resolute and Vanitie. On setting out to the lightship the committee decided to send the yachts on another windward and leeward course with the wind about south-west and blowing six miles an hour but increasing.

The Resolute won the honors at the start, Vanitie being over the line and having to return. The starting time taken from shore were: Resolute 11:01, 14, Vanitie 11:01:54.

At 11:50 both yachts were standing for Narragansett with the Resolute about an eighth of a mile ahead.

MARSHAL HELD FOR TRIAL.

Gaynor Accused of Extortion in Removing Woman's Furniture.

Charged with "extortion committed under color of official right," Michael J. Gaynor, City Marshal of Brooklyn, was held by Magistrate Simpson in West Side Court to-day in $1,000 bail for trial before Special Sessions.

Miss Sadie Cole, No. 253 Central Park West, complainant against Gaynor, testified the Marshal went to her apartment Wednesday night, presented a writ of attachment signed against Anita Van Munch, from whom Miss Cole rents her apartment, and proceeded to pack and remove Mrs. Cole's furniture, although she showed him a bill of sale for the articles for $1,000. The testimony showed that Gaynor was accompanied by his wife and son. Mrs. Gaynor, who is her husband's assistant, was unable to tell who had appointed her such.

SEIZE WHISKEY ON TRUCK.

Driver Accused of Stealing Fifteen Cases Destined for Hospital.

A man coming through a hole in the fence flanking the Long Island Railroad yards in Sixth Street, Long Island City, early to-day, dropped a case he was smuggling when he saw Police Officer Charles Brown, of Hatter's Point Station, standing at the hole. He shouted "beat it!" to a man on a truck, and the truck, which was carrying a telegraph pole in Jackson Avenue and was being driven by a driver named Long Island City, said someone had telephoned him to call for a load of goods to be taken to the bridge plant in Long Island City.

In Long Island City Police Court he was held in $1,000 bail for examination on June 18 on a charge of grand larceny. The whiskey was destined for a Government hospital at Orange, N. J.

RESUME BERGDOLL HUNT.

Latest Tip Says Draft Dodger Is Surrounded in Maryland.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—Grover C. Bergdoll and Erwin F. Bergdoll, wealthy draft-dodging brothers, are reported to-day surrounded "in the hills of Maryland." The report, received with credence by agents, who say the information of the whereabouts of the fugitives is the most accurate yet received.

Following a long conference in Washington between United States Attorney McKey and Assistant Attorney General Stewart, the former intimated arrests would be made soon in connection with Bergdoll's flight.

Government agents despatched to Maryland to catch the draft dodgers were in telephonic communication with the office here to-day and reported the Bergdolls were caught in a motor car in the direction of Washington. All roads are watched.

TO SUE UNION MEN IF THEY BOYCOTT

Merritt Will Act for Burgess Lumber Company as He Did in Danbury Hatters Case.

Walter B. Merritt, No. 135 Broadway, the lawyer who collected damages in the Danbury hatters' case, when working men lost their property for illegal action in a strike, announced to-day he is prepared to take similar action for his client, the Burgess Brothers' Lumber Company, Inc., Brooklyn.

The Evening World has told how Supreme Court Justice Fawcett in Brooklyn granted an injunction restraining four labor unions and seven steamship companies from refusing to handle goods of the company.

"That suit included a demand for damages," said Mr. Merritt. "The amount was not named because it would be subject to increase in event of further illegal acts. If the defendants do not obey the court we shall collect from the unions or their individual members to the extent of their ability to pay."

WARD MAY SUE UNIONS.

Loss From Alleged Boycott Already $200,000, Says Lawyer.

J. A. Hasbennell, No. 61 Broadway, counsel for the Ward Baking Company, said to-day he would confer with George Ward, President of the company, to decide whether damages suits shall be brought against the Bakery Drivers, Chauffeurs and Helpers' Union, Local No. 421, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Milk Drivers' Union No. 543. These unions were enjoined recently by Supreme Court Justice Keels from interfering with the bakery company's delivery wagons and from boycotting dealers who handle the Ward products. In granting injunctions, the court suggested that damages suits might be brought against the unions.

"Mr. Ward is not vindictive and he does not want blood money," said Mr. Hasbennell, "but the question of suing is still open. The damages already inflicted amount to $250,000."
